Petroleum Marketers & Convenience Store Association Report

SILVER STATE SUMMARY

BIG DOGS HOWLED again in April with another successful event. The event involved more bowlers and golfers along with great participation of our members and suppliers. Thank you all for your support and participation in what has become a must-attend state event in the spring at the Red Rock Resort and nearby golf in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Big Dog's format with 12 lanes of VIP bowling is the key to the event's success. Much like WPMA's Topgolf, bowling is successful not as an athletic contest but rather as an opportunity for members to network with other members, vendors and suppliers. This two-hour opportunity to engage is the draw, and we see our success continuing well into the future. A special thank you to WPMA first Vice President and Nevada Jobber Jeremy Bautista for attending again this year.

The 82nd session of the Nevada Legislature ended on the 5th of June followed by two quick special sessions, one to finish the work they couldn't get done in regular session, and the other to approve $380 million of public money to bring the worst baseball franchise to Las Vegas.

For our members, this was a good session with a Republican Governor who committed to our members to tap the brakes on climate change legislation and regulations in Nevada. Governor Lombardo did just that, despite the efforts of many climate change zealots to advance legislation for environmental and social justice. I want to caution other states about legislation already in the Montana constitution, often called the 'green amendment.' The bill, Assembly Joint Resolution 3 or AJR3, was introduced in Nevada with national support in seeking to amend our state Constitution by placing all the state air, water and land in a public trust. The next effect would have been to make all citizens trustees with the power to object to nearly all development big or small involving air, water or land in the state. In Nevada, legislation proposing amendments to the state Constitution is not subject to a Governor's veto. With a strong business coalition, the 'green amendment' legislation never got a hearing and died. 'Fore-warned is to be forearmed,' just saying.

Jobbers operating in Clark County need to be aware of the county's effort to require year-round CaRFG, Phase 3. Thanks to our efforts during Big Dogs, we were able to get our suppliers to actively engage with county air quality officials to explain the difficulties and pitfalls to such a requirement. Thanks to our association, discussions will be continuing with the major suppliers, with a decision due sometime this fall.

Fueling Nevada was asked to join a federal lawsuit challenging EPA's April 6, 2023 Notice of Decision at 88 Fed. Reg. 20688 granting California a preemption waiver for its Advanced Clean Trucks program. The law firm who also represents EMA, NACS and WSPA will file a petition for review in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

I will keep you advised of any and all changes. Please contact me if you have any questions at peter@fuelingnevada.com or 775-721-6888.
